Dear Parent/Carer

Helping your child with GCSE Religious Studies

In the RE department, we are mindful that there are not many lessons left before your child sits their first Religious Studies exam. No more than 13, in fact! As I am sure you will appreciate, it is important that all our students do all they can to ensure they have a strong set of results. Regardless of the choices they made in Year 9, good passes in all of their GCSEs will help your child be successful in a very competitive world.

The RE department is running after-school revision sessions on Thursdays between 4pm and 5pm, every Week A. I would strongly advise all students to come to as many sessions as possible. As well as this, surveys of our students over the past several years show that those who regularly revise for GCSE Religious Studies in their own time, away from timetabled lessons, get the best results. Our Padlet wall is also a useful revision tool we encourage students to use; padlet.com/jpomfret/re (the password is wearde).

I will be most grateful if you discuss this letter with your child. Reinforcing the idea that hard work in all subjects leads to more choices in the future will be more than helpful to them! If we can be of any help, please feel free to e-mail us:

lsayer@saltashcloud.net (Miss Sayer)

Many thanks for your help and support.

Yours faithfully
