Dear Ms Bryce,

Saltash Community School at BETT

Following on from the BETT Show last week I'd like to personally thank Saltash Community School for giving your students the opportunity to attend the show and for helping us to demonstrate our ClassFlow for Schools software on the Promethean stand. They certainly did Saltash proud.

Confident, engaging and impeccably behaved, the students represented Saltash to the very highest of standards – indeed we had many comments from visitors on their maturity and on their ability to articulate their personal experiences of using a variety of different types of technology in school. They also worked very well as a team which brought a real positive vibe to the stand and helped create such an inviting atmosphere.

All of this would not have been possible without Mr Scott Wieprecht to whom I'd like to offer my special thanks. He was an excellent host for the trip and succeeded in seamlessly managing the logistics of the students both on and off stand – no mean feat given the size of the show!

Your support of the event really was an essential part of us being able to share the teaching and learning benefits of ClassFlow for Schools with UK teachers, and it offered our visitors a valuable insight into how Saltash has already been using the technology.

Once again, a huge thank you to everyone at the school who made it happen, and for helping make Promethean's presence at the show such a success!

Yours sincerely,

Ian Curtis
